JUSTICE HERE PROMPT ALSO

GETS A YEAR IN JAIL

Charley Stidd Also Must Pay $1,000 Fine as Result of Finding of 30 Gallons of Liquor.

Michigan justice may be swift, but the Nodaway county officers and circuit court still hold an edge when it comes to sentencing violators immediately after arrest.

Upon a plea of guilty in circuit court this morning, Judge John M. Dawson fined Charley Stidd $1,000 and sentenced him to serve one year in the county jail, for having in his possession some thirty gallons of intoxicating liquor, found by officers late yesterday afternoon.

Stidd was said by the sheriff to have been engaged in the liquor business in Iowa before moving to Maryville last November, as at Mount Ayr, he received a nine-months' sentence but later was released if he would leave the state.

By the amount of liquor found in his possession at the old Thad Wilderman property on Lawn avenue, now owned by Harry Mutz, which he has been renting, Stidd won the title of Maryville's "bootleg king." Between twenty-five and thirty gallons of all descriptions of "hooteh" were found in the house, in all sizes of containers, from kegs to half-pint bottles.

Five Officers in Raid.

Most of the stuff was corn liquor, Prosecuting Attorney G. P. Wright told the court, but some alcohol and wine was found distributed from the refrigerator to the upstairs rooms.

The residence was searched by five officers, armed with a search warrant. They found Stidd asleep when they entered. Sheriff L. B. Campbell, Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Heifner and John Rasco, and Chief of Police Dougan and Officer L. E. Atherton made the raid.

It was believed that Stidd operated headquarters for distribution of "liquor to high school and college students," Prosecutor Wright told the court, and asked that a heavy penalty be assessed. Stidd got the maximum.

Neighbors had thought that Stidd had lots of "company" lately, by the number of cars which have been seen in front of the house, and a truck with an Iowa license has been noticed parked before the house.

Stidd caused a roar of laughter in the courtroom, when asked by the court whether he had an explanation to make, by stating he was keeping the liquor for his own use and "did not know a person in Maryville." He said further that the man from Kansas City who delivered the liquor to him left a five-gallon jug the same night at the back door of a house across the street from the mayor, who lives at 335 East Fourth street. Judge Dawson thought that was getting rather close to him, as he and Mrs. Dawson have been living at the Bainum Hotel.

Jury Again Excused.

The petit jury again for the third time this week was excused this morning because the parties in the case set for trial today were not ready. The jury was excused until tomorrow, which no doubt will be a busy day as two trials and a demurrer are set on the docket.

The cases set for trial are the State Highway Commission vs. Charles H. Partridge, et al., condemnation; and George L. Owens, by Mrs. Owens, against the Business Men's Protective Association, contract. The demurrer to the petition of the banks against the township collector, seeking an injunction, also is set for hearing tomorrow.

Other proceedings of the court today:

C. E. Barnett vs. James Howad, replevin, continued.

Ed Cummins vs. T. A. Corken, Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction, et al., note, settled and dismissed.

The Fire Insurance Company vs. George A., and R. H. Yates, contract, settled and dismissed.

BIG TASK FOR RADIO BOARD

STARTS ON WORK TO DISTRIBUTE SHORT WAVE LENGTHS.

APPLICANTS ARE MANY

Commercial Development Delayed Pending Commission—Two-Day Hearing Ends.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The federal radio commission today began consideration of the problem of distributing short-wave lengths among many applicants—a job which in commercial importance and complexity may surpass its great task of eliminating chaotic interference from long-wave telephone broadcasting.

A two-day hearing of the scores of interests involved, ordered by the commission to obtain groundwork upon which to make their decision before a critical condition develops, was concluded late yesterday.

Newspaper, press associations, commercial telephone and telegraph agencies, and ship companies, asserted claims to priority in assignment of the limited number of wave lengths of the new and more efficient method of flashing intelligence thousands of miles in a fraction of a second.

Many other interests pleaded their urgent need for authority to use short waves. These included railroads, oil and mineral mining companies, department stores, automobile, rubber and moving-picture concerns, all of which intended to invest in the newly perfected form of communication to connect their far-flung interests if they can obtain the right to use an airchannel.

Commercial development of the new art is being held up temporarily by most of these companies pending the commission's action.

ATTEMPT AT NEW RECORD FAILS AGAIN

Capt. Kingsford-Smith and Lieut. Pond Forced Down Two Hours Short of German Mark.

Mills Field, San Francisco, Jan. 19.—Another attempt of Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and Lieutenant Geo. Pond to capture the world's endurance flight record ended in failure today.

They landed at the Mills Field airport at 10:13 a. m., today after their plane, the "Spirit of California," had been in the air for fifty hours and four minutes.

Exhaustion of the gasoline supply forced the aviators down.

The plane had been in the air since 9:09:16 a. m., Tuesday. It would have had to remain aloft until 12:31:47 p. m., today to equal the record of 52 hours, 22 minutes, 31 seconds to equal the present record, held by the German aviators Edzard and Ristiez.

For their accomplishment to be recognized officially by the National Aeronautical Association it would have been necessary for them to continue the flight for an hour after equalling the time of the present record.

"We'll be ready to try again after several days rest," the flyers said. "If the temperature gives us an even break, we'll come down with the record.

Both blamed the extreme cold for their failure.

Hearing on Power Probe Postponed.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The Senate interstate commerce committee postponed its hearing today on the Walsh resolution for investigation of the power industry, because of a Democratic caucus at 10:30 a. m.

24 PAINTINGS IN EXHIBITION

TO BE OPEN TUESDAY

Several Organizations to Aid in Receptions at Social Hall of College.

Twenty-four original oil paintings from the brushes of celebrated American artists will be on exhibition in the Social Hall of the State Teachers College for two weeks with the official opening next Tuesday morning. The paintings are loaned by the American Federation of Arts, a national organization. The value of the exhibition is $22,000.

The exhibition was assembled in New York City last fall and has been shown only in four universities, coming direct to the State Teachers College from the University of Nebraska. The other three places honored with the exhibition have been the University of Washington, University of Montana, and the University of South Dakota.

The exhibition will first be opened from 3 until 5 o'clock Monday afternoon in private showing to the College faculty and their wives and husbands. Every day thereafter it will be open to the public for a small admission fee. Doors will be open from 9 o'clock until 5 o'clock during the day. The night hours will be from 7:30 o'clock to 9 o'clock.

A reception for all College students will be held from 3 until 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Organizations in Charge.

Maryville members of P. E. O. will be in charge of the exhibition on Wednesday, the D. A. R.'s on Friday, and the Twentieth Century Club on the following Tuesday.

The College Art Club will have charge of social arrangements. Music will be furnished by the Conservatory of Music.

Special admission prices will be offered the school children of Maryville and the number that attend will depend upon the co-operation of the teachers of the various rooms.

The attendance of towns people is always large. At the exhibition two years ago people came from as far east as Chillicothe to see the art display, which has its uncommon features.

The pictures are by artists who, without exception, have had their art purchased by noteworthy museums. Many of the painters are members of the National Academy of Design and have received awards. Others have won awards at the Paris Salon.

Three of the painters represented in the exhibition were chosen by a commission to do the mural paintings for the Missouri capitol. These painters were E. Irving Couse, Arthur Meltzer, and R. E. Miller.

Friends of Miss DeLuce.

Miss Olive DeLuce, who is a member of the American Federation of Arts, is personally acquainted with three of the artists. Albert Groll had a

NORRIS OPENS SMITH ATTACK

NEBRASKAN OPPOSES A "SEATS FOR SALE" DECISION.

EXPECT A VOTE TODAY

Senator Reed of Missouri to Give Final Speech on Resolution to Declare Seat Vacant.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Admission of Senator-elect Frank L. Smith to the Senate would have the same effect as a "seats for sale" sign over the door of the Chamber, Senator Norris, Rebublican, Nebraska, declared today in debate on the Reed resolution to declare vacant the seat of the Illinoisan.

"Samuel Insull (Illinois contributor to Smith's campaign) has bought and paid for this seat," said Norris. "It it his property. But if we give it to him, what is to prevent him buying additional seats?"

"This body is proposing to investigate the alleged power trust. Mr. Insull is interested. Shall we give him a voice in this investigation?"

The Senate is scheduled to vote today on the Reed resolution declaring vacant the seat of Senator-elect Smith.

A change may be made in the resolution to strike out the provision which states that Smith is not entitled to the oath of office. Some Senators have indicated they would vote for the resolution if that clause is dropped.

Advocates of the resolution do not consider the point important, because the Senate already has denied Smith the oath.

The final speech on the resolution is to be made by Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, chairman of the committee which investigated Smith's large campaign expenditures.

Hotelling to Begin His Sentence Today

Former "Model Citizen" of Owosso, Mich., Due at Marquette by Train at 4 P. M.

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 19.—Shackled to a guard, Adolph Hotelling, "model citizen" of Owosso, traveled by train today to Marquette prison, where he was due about 4 p. m.

A week ago Hotelling, church elder, was a moral leader in his community. He never smoked and he never drank liquor. Into his life had entered religious zeal and the happiness of rearing a large family of healthy children.

Late today, he will be given a number and a rough suit of clothing and will start a life sentence at hard labor in solitary confinement for the murder of Dorothy Schneider, 5.

Justice has been as swift as the mental storm which caused Hotelling to commit the crime. Less than forty-eight hours after his arrest for the atrocity which aroused the country, he was convicted and sentenced.

Hotelling was crying when taken into the compartment on his train here. No one was permitted to talk to him.

Governor Green said he would appoint a sanity commission to examine Hotelling. If adjudged insane he will be removed to a state hospital.

PARTY BACK OF ROBINSON

ONLY ONE SUPPORTER FOR HEFLIN'S RELIGIOUS ATTACK.

DEMOCRATS IN CAUCUS

Resolution, Adopted by Vote of 33 to 1, Expresses Confidence in Senate Leader.

By PAUL R. MALLON.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Senator Heflin of Alabama renewed his religious attack on Governor Al Smith in the Senate today a few hours after a caucus of Democratic senators had adopted a resolution endorsing Senator Robinson, Democrat, floor leader, who yesterday severely criticized Heflin.

Heflin said Smith's presidential candidacy was discussed, although he did not attend and senators who did, privately denied such discussion.

Claims Smith Was Discussed.

"You were told in conference this morning by a Democratic senator that if Smith was nominated his state would go Republican," Heflin asserted. "There was no censure of me and my position in your action.

"I think it perfectly right that Senator Robinson continue as Democratic leader."

Yesterday, Heflin had said he would move to depose Robinson.

"It would be a sad day for the Democratic party whenever our party attempted to tie up with Tammany and Al Smith, the wet, the nullifier and a Roman Catholic," Heflin asserted.

"I suggested Robinson should be removed as leader, merely expressing my opinion. I didn't expect him to be removed."

Washington, Jan. 19.—Senate Democrats today expressed confidence in the leadership of Sen. Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas who yesterday condemned Senator Heflin's attacks upon Governor Al Smith of New York and the Catholic church.

Of thirty-four Democrats meeting in caucus, only Senator Trammell of Florida cast a dissenting vote, although Heflin's colleague, Senator Black of Alabama, was excused from voting.

The following resolution was adopted by a vote of 33 to 1, with twelve Democrats absent:

"Resolved that this conference of Democratic members of the Senate express its confidence in the leadership of Senator Robinson and in his service on the special committee named to investigate the alleged secret Mexican documents."

Discussed an Hour.

The resolution was presented by Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, and was discussed nearly an hour. The United Press learned authoritatively that the discussion was confined to Robinson's leadership and achievements.

No notice was taken in the discussion of Smith's candidacy for the presidential nomination and no move was started to condemn Heflin.

Heflin absented himself from the meeting and made no effort to carry out his threat to seek removal of Robinson from Democratic leadership and from the Senate committee which investigated the forged Hearst Mexican documents.

He said he had not received the call for the conference until this forenoon too late to attend, and he would follow his usual custom of attending the Senate session. The session was called to open at 11 a .m. and only four Democrats were present in the chamber.

Twelve Not Present.

Those four—Heflin, Neely, West Virginia; Blease, South Carolina; and Dill, Washington—did not attend the conference. For half an hour, the Senate was unable to get a quorum while the Democrats remained in their conference, fighting their private battles.

Besides the four who were present on the floor, the following were also marked absent at the Democratic conference: Ashurst, Arizona; Bratton, New Mexico; Edwards, New Jersey; Hayden, Arizona; Ransdall, Louisana; Reed, Missouri; Smith, South Carolina; and Stephens, Mississippi.

Some of the caucus absentees were ill or out of the city.

While the conference action was interpreted by Democrats as somewhat of a repudiation of Heflin's tactics at a time when leaders are seeking harm-

COOLIDGE AT HOME AGAIN

PRESIDENT PLEASED WITH RESULT OF CUBAN TRIP.

NO CHEERING CROWD

Homecoming a Contrast to Southern Ovations.—Pan-American Conference Down to Work.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Coolidge returned to the capital today after his first presidential trip outside of the continental United States.

The special train bearing President and Mrs. Coolidge on the last lap of their trip back from Havana, Cuba, where the chief executive assisted in opening the sixth Pan-American conference, reached the union station at 7:12 a. m.

In contrast with the ovations given him in the Cubans and by the American cities through which he journeyed on his five-day trip, there was no crowd to greet the president here. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge went to their automobiles and were taken immediately to the White House.

Hopeful of Understanding.

Mr. Coolidge was cheerful over the result of his long trip. He was pictured as hopeful that the Pan-American nations are convinced that the United States' policy toward them is one of cooperation and mutual understanding.

He was pleased over Cuba's overwhelming reception to him, and gratified officially at the opportunity to help create at Havana an atmosphere which he hopes will dispel certain Pan-American apprehensions as to the United States' motives and policies.

Mr. Coolidge's associates were hopeful that his contacts in Cuba may have the effect of furthering the improvement in Inter-American relations, promoting the work done by Ambassador Morrow's "Good Fellowship" policy in Mexico, and Charles Lindbergh's dazzling air journeys in Latin America.

Organizing Work Begins.

Havana, Jan. 19.—The sixth Pan-American conference today got down to the serious business of organizing itself for the work before it.

No plenary session is scheduled for today and no time has been set for the holding of the next one. These meetings are convoked at the will of the chairman and until the various committees, being organized today, have something to report, another plenary meeting is unlikely.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 19.—The highway compromise committee meeting to work out details of a state bond issue for construction of roads in Missouri was postponed today until Saturday of next week.

OHIO HIT BY FREAK STORM

TWISTER SWEEPS VICINITY OF CINCINNATI.

1 DEAD, MANY INJURED

Trail of Wreckage Left in Wake of Wind Following Warm Weather.—Louisville Struck, Too.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 19.—One man was killed and more than thirty persons were injured when a freak twister tore through sections of the Miami Valley today.

The storm first struck Cumminsville, where many buildings were demolished, and then leaped to Newtown, Hamilton and Washington Court House, leaving a trail of wreckage, interrupting communication and halting traffic.

Tentative estimates placed the damage at $500,000.

Salesman Killed in Car.

Richard Kruger, Dayton, Ohio, salesman, was killed at Washington Court House when the wind swept a pile of bricks from the top of a building onto his automobile.

Twenty injured had been received at General Hospital here at 1:15 p. m., and rescue crews and relief workers, led by city and Red Cross officials, were attempting to penetrate the debris in an effort to establish if there were more dead.

A score of buildings, some of them two and three stories high, were razed, and city officials expressed the fear that several dead would be found beneath the ruins.

The storm was a freak of a strange winter. Unseasonably warm weather has prevailed throughout Ohio and down into Kentucky since December 15.

Accompanied by Lightning.

Brilliant displays of lightning and crashing claps of thunder, intermingled with the roar of the wind as the terror-stricken populace scurried for safety.

Three women and a boy were injured when a three story frame house collapsed.

Falling trolley wires menaced the terror stricken people as they ran through the streets.

Six workmen narrowly escaped death when the Murdock garage, a frame structure, was partially demolished.

Hits Fringe of Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 19.—A tornado struck the southern fringe of Louisville today, causing from $25,000 to $100,000 damage to homes and injuring six persons seriously.

According to reports, damage of approximately $22,000 was done to homes and garages on South Parkway.

Harding Says Smith Won't Be Candidate

Former Iowa Governor Believes New York Executive Will Refuse Nomination.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—Governor Al Smith of New York will not be the Democratic candidate for President, W. L. Harding, former governor of Iowa, said today.

Harding declared that while he believed Governor Smith would get the nomination if he desired, he would refuse to accept it.

"This is anything but a Democratic year," Harding said.

Commenting on the Republican situation, Harding said there are four outstanding candidates and that the nominee will be selected from this quarter. They are, and he named them according to his opinion of their political strength: Herbert Hoover, Charles G. Dawes, Frank Lowden, and Charles E. Curtis, Kansas.

Coolidge Invited by Confederate Vets

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 19.—An invitation to attend the reunion of United Confederate war veteran here in May was telegraphed President Coolidge by Governor Martineau today. Negotiations also are underway to secure the U. S. Marine band and the Mexican national band for the occasion.

Black Gold, Famous Derby Winner, Shot

New Orleans, La., Jan 19.—Black Gold, the little dark horse who thrilled 75,000 people at Churchill Downs in 1924, when he won a Kentucky derby, has passed on.

He was shot after he broke a fore leg during the running of the Salome handicap, here yesterday.

As he came into the head of the stretch, Black Gold went down. Jockey D. Emery was thrown over his head. The rest of the field thundered past. Black Gold got up, one leg dangling, and tried to go with them. He fell and tried again. The last time he failed to get up. A few minutes later he was shot.

ENGLAND AND ROME APART

YEARS OF NEGOTIATION FAIL TO BRING RELIGIOUS UNION.

REPORT MADE PUBLIC

Partial Agreement Reached Toward Healing of Henry VIII's Breach With Catholic Church.

London, Jan. 19.—The Tense controversy already existing in the Church of England—mainly over rapproachment with the Roman Catholic Church and ritualistic forms of worship—had become more acute today through publication of a report of negotiations between representatives of the "High Church" faction of the Church of England and high Catholic churchmen.

Conferences between the two groups, in an attempt to heal the breach of 400 years between the two churches, were held intermittently between 1921 and 1925 at Malines, see of the late Cardinal Mercier. A report on the negotiations has been kept secret for five years.

Fears were expressed today that instead of bringing about any forms of peace between the two factions of the Church of England, the publication of the Malines conversations might have one of two undesired effects:

May Cause Division.

1—End all hope of obtaining approval for the modernized revision of the prayer book.

2—Cause withdrawal from the Church of England of the "High Church" or Anglo-Catholic faction.

Only the Anglican agreements were made public. This was out of deference to the wishes of the late Cardinal Mercier, under whose auspices the conferences were held.

In an appendix, Cardinal Mercier doubted the wisdom of publication of the disputable points brought up at the conference.

"In my humble opinion, it would be inopportune to publish any statement of disputable points," Cardinal Mercier wrote to the archbishop of Canterbury on October 25, 1925.

"Negative conclusions, whatever they may be, would necessarily provoke polemics in the press, reawaken ancient animosities, accentuate divisions, thus harming the cause to which we have resolved to devote ourselves," he said.

Agree to Pope's Supremacy.

Two of the major points that the Anglicans agreed to during course of the conversations were:

1—That the Anglo-Catholics had acknowledged the supremacy of the pope.

2—That "in the communion the body and blood of our Lord Jesus Christ are verily given, taken and received by the faithful. By consecration, the bread and wine become the body and blood of Christ."

One of the most questions which came before the conference was brought about at the second meeting, March 14 and 15, 1923. The Anglican report of this meeting said in part:

"Among the topics which arose for discussion was the Anglicans' statement that the essential part of such a settlement as had been discussed would be an express provision for recognition and retention of certain characteristics, Anglican rites and customs, such as, firstly, the use of the vernacular in English rites; secondly communion in both kinds; thirdly, permission for marriage of the clergy."

No Bar to Concession.

The report said that the representatives of the Roman Catholic church had replied:

"There is no bar to granting these desires, at least in part, but the Roman Catholic representatives are not in a position to anticipate what judgments the holy see might pass on the motives prompting these requests."

"Regarding papal authority it was explained by the Roman Catholics that this transcends but does not extinguish episcopal authority. However, in exceptional crises the pope intervenes in full power. One of the Anglicans said that it was right to make plain that they could not admit the 'universal jurisdiction' claimed either for St. Peter individually or for the Roman church but only spiritual leadership and general solicitude for the well being of the church as a whole.

"To the objection that a mere primacy of honor cannot be admitted by the Roman church, it was insisted that this was more than a primacy of honor, it was also a primacy of responsibility."

Refers to American Church.

In the document there were two direct references to the Episcopal Church of America, an offspring of the Church of England.

One was based on the plan—never worked out to any full extent—for organization and said:

"One of the Anglicans brought to the attention that in any aim towards union it would be necessary to deal not only with the Bishops of England but of America also."

The other direct reference to the American Church was in discussion of the thirty-nine articles of religion: "From explanations given to us, it is clear that the thirty-nine articles of religion are not an insurmountable obstacle in the way of understanding between the two churches, which the Roman Catholics had feared might be the case. In fact some Anglican theologians believe these articles are susceptible of interpretation which would reconcile them with the teaching of the Council of Trent. Furthermore, the Anglican clergy, in asserting to these articles, are no longer bound, as formerly, to accept all and each proposition contained therein. In fact, many Anglicans, particularly the members of the Episcopalian Church of America, consider the articles practically obsolete."

Broken by Henry VIII.

The history of England almost can be traced through the history of the English Church of the Sixteenth century.

The breach with the Roman Catholic Church came in 1531 when King Henry VIII established the present Church of England after learning that the Pope was opposed to his intended divorce from Catherine of Aragon.

Since that time there have been attempts, without success, to bring about a unity between the two churches. This desire, held among the Anglo-Catholics, resulted in the Malines conferences.

Seek Rehearing of Fire Insurance Case

Attorneys Says Cut of 10 Per Cent Requires Companies to Do Business at a Loss.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Attorneys representing 160 Missouri Fire Insurance Companies today placed in the mails an application for a rehearing of the Fire Insurance Rate Reduction Case before the Supreme Court of the United States.

They charged the the high court erred in refusing to take jurisdiction in the case. The supreme court ruled it had no jurisdiction because no constitutional question was involved.

William S. Hogsett, one of the attorneys for the insurance companies, said the reduced rate of 10 per cent required each company in the state to do business at a loss, permits no profit to any of them and has in contemplation past average profits of a group of compromise as a measuring stick of prospective companies.

"No company could possibly do business in Missouri if its rate were to be fixed upon its own experience in that state. No company has ever tried to do business on such a basis and it is impossible to so transact it."

Judge Hardy Won't Delay Hickman Trial

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 19.—Judge Carles Hardy, before whom Edward Hickman is to go to trial here January 25, has indicated he will not grant a continuance of the trial.

"When Hickman was arraigned," Judge Hardy said, "his attorney asked me for a continuance and gave his word he would not ask for another postponement.

"I granted the continuance with that provision and unless he has unusual grounds to show why January 25 would be prejudicial to his client, the trial will begin then."

ony in the party, there was no discussion of the possibility that Heflin might be induced to stop his attacks upon Smith and the Catholics.

Heflin has said he would continue to discuss the subject in the Senate until adjournment for the Houston convention in June.

Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, said Heflin's name was "hardly mentioned in the conference."

"About all that was said was that you couldn't mention his name without getting into an argument with him," Caraway added.

Preamble Eliminated.

It was learned later that Glass had contemplated a preamble to his resolution merely to identify the resolution. He eliminated it on objections by Trammell, Simmons of North Carolina and Harris of Georgie, however.

The preamble was as follows:

"Whereas the leadership of the Hon. Joseph T. Robinson of the minority party of the Senate, has been openly challenged on the floor, together with his membership on the special committee to investigate certain charges against senators contained in alleged secret Mexican documents, and,

"Whereas it has been sought to identify the entire membership of the Democratic side of the Senate with the openly avowed objection to Senator Robinson, now therefore," etc. Following with the resolution as adopted.

Reed Votes by Proxy.

A check of absentees disclosed Ashurst and Bratton were in a Boulder dam hearing; Edwards and Ransdall were out of town; and Reed of Missouri voted by proxy in favor of the resolution.

Dill's office said he had to go to the Interior Department on business, but he was present on the floor part of the time the conference was being held.

Leadership Challenged.

During a religious debate between the two yesterday, Heflin suggested not only Robinson's dethronement as floor leader but his removal from the Senate committee that investigated the forged Hearst Mexican documents.

Robinson immediately accepted the challenge and called today's meeting.

Robinson and other Democratic leaders are somewhat disturbed over the prospect that Heflin is to wage an anti-Catholic campaign in the upper House from now until June—the time they planned to use to quiet religious disagreement in the party in preparation for a harmonious convention as Houston, Tex.

Heflin declaimed yesterday for the first time this session, less than a week after the peace gathering at the Jackson Day dinner, which he did not attend. He not only attacked Robinson, when the latter arose to call him a "fool" and deery the attack on Catholics, but he also attacked Governor Al Smith of New York on "religious and wet" grounds.

No Way to Quiet Him.

While Heflin has no open following among Democrats in the upper House, party leaders are piqued because there is no way to quiet what many of them have characterized as his disturbing influence upon the party peace program. They say they do not consider his campaign seriously except in so far as it may affect future party harmony.

They have found that to reply to his original innuendoes and attacks only stirs him to more lengthy oratorical effects, but they also are unwilling to treat him with silence for fear that silence will be misinterpreted as consent. The unlimited debate rules of the Senate permit Heflin to talk as long as he desires and all party leaders can do is to sit and squirm.

Thus far they have been unable to devise any unsuccessful way to handle him.

American Policy in Nicaragua Attacked

Recent Action Designed to Protest Bondholders, Says Huddleston of Alabama.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Representative Huddleston, Democrat, Alabama, attacked the administration's Nicaraguan policy in an impassioned speech in the House today.

"The people of Nicaragua want us out of there and we should let them handle their own affairs," Huddleston declared.

"President Coolidge has told us about Nicaragua twice, but the whole truth has not been told."

Huddleston said Colonel Henry L. Stimson's mission in Nicaragua was aimed not to protect American lives and property, but to bring peace between the factions so that taxes could be collected and American bondholders paid off.

Poison Cough Syrup to Family of Four

Former Millionaire Believed to Have Given Doses to Others, Then Himself.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 19.—Worry over inability to recoup a fortune, which once was rated at more than $1,000,000, today was believed responsible for the death of James Potter and three members of his family.

The four died early today in an exclusive lodging house in the Euclid Avenue district. Death was attributed to poisoning. Three glasses, each containing a small amount of white fluid, were found in the house.

Besides Potter those dead are Mrs. Potter, member of a pioneer family of this district; and two sons, James, 16, and Robert, 14.

The last member of the family to die was James Potter, Jr., who staggered into the police station mumbling "daddy has given us cough syrup".

Potter, it was learned, was a former millionaire building contractor. He was under indictment in Steubenville, Ohio, for obtaining money under false pretenses, which grew out of construction of ten houses in that city.

He disappeared from Steubenville last Thanksgiving with his family—after he had suffered financial reverses.

Numerous bottles of poison drugs found in the family medicine cabinet led to the belief that Potter had planned the death coup for some time.

In addition to the poison, detectives found a bottle of champaigne with a note attached to the bottle, "to be opened only upon the birth of our first baby daughter." The Potters had two sons.

The palatial home of the Potters in Steubenville, O., where Potter amassed more than a million dollars, was sold at a sheriff's sale recently.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Justice James C. McReynolds of the United States Supreme Court was suggested by Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, today for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He had cited one of McReynolds' decisions in his defense of Senator-Elect Smith of Illinois in a speech before the Senate.

Detroit Fliers Down at Paris Island, S. C.

Flo and Bement Fail on Attempted Non-Stop Hop to Havana but Take Off Again.

Paris Island, S. C., Jan. 19—The Stinson-Detroiter monoplane en route from Mount Clemens, Mich., to Havana, Cuba, took off from here at 9:20 a. m. today, four hours and forty minutes after the plane was forced down here.

Lieutenant Leonard Flo and Austin Bement, Detroit business man, said they would not attempt a nonstop flight to Havana but would stop at Jacksonville before continuing.

Their plane, after passing over Norfolk, Va., at 4 p. m. became lost, it was learned, and flew in circles over the Carolinas during the night, the gasoline supply being nearly exhausted when the plane was brought down here at 4:40 a. m.

Two Fliers Missing.

Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 19.—Fear for the safety of Ted Mosegey and Fred Herring, aviators who left here Monday for a flight to New York, increased today when twelve hours passed without word.

The last seen of their Stinson-Detroiter biplane was when it passed over Savannah. The Flyers were carrying news reels of President Coolidge's good will trip to Cuba.

Hopkins Couple Wed 60 Years Ago Friday

Mr. and Mrs. John Ringold Still on Farm on Which They Went to Housekeeping.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ringold, seven miles southwest of Hopkins, will celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary tomorrow, says the Hopkins Journal.

They were married Jan. 21, 1868, and since then have resided continuously on the farm where they now reside. No marriage licenses were required when they wed but a legal record was kept.

The house in which they began housekeeping still stands on their farm. It was built in 1860 by Willis Gray and has been used as a church, school house, dwelling and is now used for storing implements.

Mrs. Ringold is 77 years of age and was born and reared in Nodaway county, being born in Pickering, and is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gray.

Mr. Ringold is 88 years old and came to Missouri in 1861. He was born in Indiana, where he lived until he was 14 years of age. He was a helper for a shoemaker, beginning the trade when 15 years of age and worked until he was 18. He then decided to go to school and afterwards taught school for five years in Missouri and Iowa.

He also remembers when he worked as a farm hand here at 50c a day, big wages at that time.

He accumulated three hundred acres of Nodaway county land and aside from the farm on which he resides, it is now owned by his children.

Mr. and Mrs. Ringold have six children, all within a mile and a quarter of where their parents live, with the exception of Ira, who lives in Hopkins. The children are Mrs. Vern Fakes, Ira, Lester, Asa, Rufus and Miss Jennie Ringold at home.

Bread Boycott at Excelsior Springs

Groceryman and Hotel Owners Refuse Out-of-Town Products to Patronize "Home Town" Product.

Excelsior Springs, Jan. 19.—A boycott on out-of-town bakers was begun today when hotel owners and twenty-three grocerymen kept their agreement to patronize only "home town" bread.

Three trucks from Kansas City firms, all having large regular customers in this city, were forced to leave today without selling a loaf to the patrons.

Several grocers here reported one baking company truck driver from Kansas City declared he was "coming back again Monday and if the grocers wouldn't buy bread he would give it away."

The boycott is backed, according to the hotel men and grocers, by local baking companies, who complain their products are not given a fair showing against Kansas City companies. A meeting of the boycotters has been called for tonight.

THE STORY THUS FAR

When JEFF HARRISON, gambler, is killed in a poker game in Caldwell, Kan., his 13-year-old son, TONY, is taken to the Bar K ranch in the Indian territory by JOE CRAIG, who appoints himself the boy's guardian.

There Tony is welcomed by TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K brand, and his little daughter, RITA. Another who has befriended Tony is GORDON W. LILLIE, who later becomes known as PAWNEE BILL when he teaches school at the Indian reservation in Pawnee.

RITA MOORE, his little tomboy daughter.

When Tony is 15, Rita and her mother depart for Virginia and the boy learns for the first time how much he cares for the little red-haired, arrogant miss. Titus Moore, owner of a thoroughbred mare, is challenged to a horse race in Caldwell by CLYDE JONES, owner of a remarkable stallion.

CHAPTER XXIV.

"My Gawd!" ejaculated Joe Craig. "Did you hear that, Tony?"

But Tony had heard and understood only too well. He was thinking that the responsibility he had so enthusiastically assumed had grown suddenly to the proportions of a staggering load.

"What," he asked himself, "if Fancy was to lose through some carelessness of mine? It would be bad enough to have her beaten, but I'd hate to be the cause of the colonel losing five thousand dollars and his mare in the bargain."

"We'll shake on it, then," Jones was saying to Titus Moore. "And now how about a stake holder?"

"As far as I'm concerned," he was told, "a stakeholder isn't necessary. Your word's good enough for me, and most men are satisfied with mine."

Jones stared at him a moment, then nodded briefly. "It satisfies me, too."

The news seemed to spread on wings. Within an hour everyone in Caldwell knew that the owners of Black Diamond and Fancy had bet five thousand dollars apiece and their horses as well.

The weekly Caldwell Tribune issued the morning of the race, carried a stirring editorial by John Blake. Betting on a horse race was gambling, he admitted; nevertheless the editor of the Tribune had a weakness for it.

"If it be treason," he wrote, "make the most of it. As long as horses run there will be wagering, and our judgment, which is often wrong, is backing the Kentucky mare."

The extent to which Titus Moore had plunged on his thoroughbred had caused some surprise among the Bar K men, but Joe Craig had a plausible explanation.

"There's several things to be considered," he pronounced sagely as he "borrowed" a cigar. "First of all, the colonel's a true gambler. You might say he's got the real gambler's instinct, which is to back your judgment to the limit. Take this race, now; the old man's confident of winning; he's got a great little mare and he don't think it runs in her blood to be beaten. Anw if he can't see how she can lose, why shouldn't he bet that way?"

"As for risking Fancy herself, I think I've got that worked out, too. It would break his heart anyway, if she lost and it was proved some other horse was her master. He'd never feel the same about her; he'd never forget that she failed him in the big test. Understand, I'm not saying he'd turn against her—that's not his way. I'm trying to say that she'd never be the same to him.

"So he's risking her, along with his five thousand. If he wins, it means he was right in his judgment. If he loses—" Craig broke off and gestured expressively with his hands.

The calmest of all of Fancy's backers was Titus Moore himself; half an hour before the start of the race he stood beside the mare and talked to her in an even voice, while Fancy nuzzled his cheek.

"Tony," he said, turning to the boy, "there's just one bit of advice I want to give you. I have an idea Black Diamond's owner is going to order his boy out from the start and keep him going that way to the finish. The stallion is big and strong and he won't tire; there'd be no sense in holding him back. But that's not the way to race Fancy. If she'll do it for you, I want you to match the stallion's pace, keeping about half a length behind him, for the first half mile. In the last quarter ask her for everything she's got. The mare's got a great heart, Tony; she'll have a sprint left for you."

He stroked Fancy's muzzle affectionately, letting his eyes rove over her trim figure in a final appraisal.

Tony Harrison nodded. Something of the colonel's calmness had communicated itself to him during the last few minutes. Considering the restless, well nigh sleepless night he had spent, he now felt unaccountably quiet of nerve, as though soothing hands had stroked his temples.

"She's a great little piece of horseflesh, Tony," Titus Moore went on, still fondling the thoroughbred, "and she's proud—proud of the good, clean blood in her. You don't know how much I'd like to ride her myself."

"I think I do," the boy replied quietly. "You don't know how proud I am myself, of being able to ride her. I'll do my best." He sat down and pulled off his boots, then stood up again and thrust a stockinged foot into a stirrup. "Every pound'll count," he told Titus Moore as he swung into the saddle.

Moore nodded approvingly. The boy had divested himself of every bit of superfluous clothing and sat clad only in trousers, shirt and socks. There was a blast from a bugle and the colonel lingered to press his rider's hand, then strode calmly, head erect, to a box where sat Clyde Jones and a party of friends and Joe Craig.

Jones wore a wide grin. "I feel real sorry for you, Colonel," he called, and Craig frowned. "Save your sympathy," he retorted, "you might need it."

To Titus Moore he added quickly: "It sure will do me good to see that bag of wind lose. It always goes hard with that kind."

His employer said nothing. Chin in hand, he was gazing intently at a spot some fifty yards away where two men were leading the mounted animals up to the starting line. "Black Diamond," Craig informed him in his ear, "is carrying a hundred and forty pounds. Jones said he didn't want to have any advantage in the weights."

Colonel Moore nodded. "That was real white of him."

Somewhere a six-gun barked and two horses shot forward in a swirl of dust. A full-throated cry arose from the seats as long stifled emotions were released, and the colonel settled himself back, his face an impassive mask.

It was all very brief. True to Titus Moore's prediction, the boy on Black Diamond was trying to show Fancy the stallion's heels all the way. He overhauled the mare in half a dozen jumps, and thereafter Tony clung to him, no more than a length behind.

Craig saw Clyde Jones spring from his seat with a battle-cry of triumph as the stallion sprang into the lead. "He's running away from her," he pealed.

And then Craig saw the broad smile fade as Fancy clung tenaciously to the pace-setting Black Diamond; saw it vanish entirely be replaced with a frown as, with two-thirds of the race run, Tony Harrison leaned far forward with a word in Fancy's ear and the mare responded with a magnificient spurt. Now she was pulling up on him; daylight closed between them; her head was abreast of his saddle, his neck, was even with his; and now she was ahead.

Joe Craig shouted himself hoarse. "Just look at her, Colonel!" he begged. "Just look at her! Oh, what a beauty! What a beauty!"

"She's doing just what I expected of her, Joe," the colonel responded without turning his head. "Tony's run her perfectely."

It was true. Another twenty yards and Fancy would have been overhauled, but the boy had gauged her resources admirably. At the end, Black Diamond was gaining on her in a thunderous finish and Fancy was perceptibly tired, but she flashed over the line half a length ahead.

A slight smile that trembled on his lips was Titus Moore's only evidence of emotion, but Craig with a wild yell of victory turned triumphantly toward the beaten Clyde Jones.

He got the shock of his life, for Jones, his eyes clouded with disappointment, and forcing a smile, was coming toward Moore, his hand outstretched in congratulation.

"By God!" he exclaimed. "I'm surprised, but I'm licked. Colonel Moore, I didn't think it possible there was another horse in this country as fast as Black Diamond. The mare won because she's a better horse; the stallion's yours and so is this," and he fished out his fat wallet.

Titus Moore got to his feet. A committee was approching the victorious Fancy to place a wreath of flowers around her neck and another about Tony Harrison's shoulders. The colonel was very happy; he was even close to tears; but outwardly he was imperturbable.

He faced Clyde Jones and clasped his hand. "My friend," he said, "you say what isn't so. It isn't fair to that wonderful horse of yours to say that he was beaten by a better one. He was beaten by a better one at that distance, that is all. You saw for yourself, and it must have done your heart good to see it, that Black Diamond would have won easily at a mile."

Jones nodded. "Yes, I believe he would. I'm right glad to hear you say so."

Titus Moore smiled a little more broadly and rested his hand affectionately on Joe Craig's shoulder. "Mr. Jones," he said, "you have shown yourself to be a fine gentleman and a good sport. The hardest thing in life is to lose gracefully and you've done it.

The other bowed a little and murmured something in deprecation.

"I'll take your money," Colonel Moore continued, "but I won't take your horse. I cheerfully give him back."

Jones protested volubly. "Nothing of the kind. Nothing of the kind. The stallion's yours; I lost him. I couldn't think of it.' '

"Nevertheless," insisted Titus Moore, "I can't accept him."

At that moment Fancy, with Tony still in the saddle, was being led forward to the box where Colonel Moore stood, and a cry went up for the colonel to stand beside her and show himself to the crowd.

And Clyde Jones, his gaze resting on Tony Harrison, told the colonel: "Well, if you wont take him, I'll give him to the boy who beat him."

Sell Art Pictures; Get Play Equipment

North Prairie Pupils Earn It Themselves.—Prizes Awarded for Best Science Booklets.

NORTH PRAIRIE — The North Prairie "kids" are the proud possessors of a complete playground equipment, teeter-totter, slide and merry-go-round. The best part of it is that the children earned it themselves. We secured it through the sale of the art pictures of many good subjects.

The prizes were awarded for the leaf books in the "C" elementary science Monday. The following received prizes: Esther Techer, first; Eva Younger, second; and Geraldine Ecker, third. Esther Fecher is a third grader and the other two are fourth graders.

The North Prairie Hot Top Baking Club held its fourth regular meeting Friday afternoon with Hyllis Pearce president, in charge. Some very interesting reports were given and an interesting program. After the meeting, refreshments of peaches and cake were served. We had at th meeting as a guest, Pearl Ecker.

Mrs. Will Clardy entertained the following at her home Saturday in honor of her small daughter, Eva Rebecca: Grace and Geraldine Ecker, Eva Younger and Dorothy and Laverne Livengood.

Drugs Excite The Kidneys, Drink Water

Take Salts At First Sign Of Bladder Irritation Or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

The Sensible Treatment

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS "Help You Stay Well"

HOW TO FIGHT EXCESS FAT

There are hard ways, like starvation, but fewer and fewer employ them. There is a pleasant way, modern and scientific, which combats the cause. A vast number of people now use it. And the slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The bulls had the news all their way today and all grains advanced fractionally. Late in the day wheat was ½ to ¾c up; corn had made about the same advance, and oats was around half cent higher in sympathy. Gains were held well through the morning. Trading was light.

County points took advantage of this morning's upturn in corn to sell and country offerings to arrive suddenly swelled. Buyers were frightened here and rushed to take profits while they could, sending prices into a sudden drop that netted fractional losses. Oats followed corn but wheat held part of the morning's advantage. Final figures, wheat ¼ to ½ cent higher; corn ⅛ to ½ cent lower and oats ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower. Provisions closed higher.

Strength at Liverpool combined with moderate export business, gave the wheat market a firm tone and in the absence of strong bearish pressure, the upturn was steady. Argentine cables spoke of larger exports, indicating that the movement there is in full swing but this news was offset by bullish domestic conditions. Milling interests bought domestic wheat freely. Receipts here were 11 cars, and the cash market held unchanged.

Unfavorable belt weather, and sudden strength at Buenos Aires sent corn into an early advance that held all day. The tone was strong and only prompt sales by profit taking checked the sharp rallies. Rain was reported over most of the corn belt. Roads will probably be blocked and the country movement checked for a few days. Indiana and Ohio points reported purchasers of corn here for feeding purposes. Receipts were comparatively small at 74 cars and cash corn was unchanged.

Oats gained a fraction on reflected strength from other pits and held the advances. Receipts were 43 cars. Cash oats went ¼c higher.

Provisions worked higher.

OTHER TEAMS STRONG

Warrensburg, With Two Conference Victories Already, Here Friday and Saturday.

Everybody says the Bearcats were good against the Peru Normal cagers last Monday, and they were. But they will have to be better against Warrensburg Friday and Saturday—and against Kirksville, Springfield and Cape Girardeau.

This seemed to be the sentiment today of Coach H. Frank Lawrence, director of men's athletics of the Northwest Teachers College.

The conference route this year will probably be the roughest over which the Bearcats have traveled in many years. Warrensburg and Kirksville have last year's teams back and have been reeling off victories over high class teams. No one is in doubt in regard to the Springfield quintet. This aggregation has fairly been a magnet to appraising sport comments already this season.

Two years ago the Bearcats won the M. I. A. A. title; last year they tied with Kirksville for the honor. Always have the Bearcats been near the top and this year should be no exception. Anyone who saw the College aggregation play in Monday's contest can vouch for Lawrence's proteges and predict a successful season. But, Mr. Lawrence doesn't hesitate to say that the Bearcast will have a job to topple Kirksville, Springfield, Warrensburg and Cape off the conference ladder. He says it will be the most bitter struggle of recent years.

Pleased With Peru Game.

He, too, thinks the Bearcats were good against Peru and here is what he says about that game:

"I was well pleased with the Bearcats' showing against Peru, especially their fighting quality and carrying on under diffienlties. There was general improvement. Our defense loosened on us Monday night, and in spite of the fact that the Bobcats had a good team, the ragged Bearcat defense was inexcusable. To the credit of the team is the fact that the defense tightened before the game was over, when the usual result of a loose defense in the first part of a game is no defense at all before the close."

Of course, Coach Lawrence is trying to take these faults away from the team and is working primarily this week to correct them.

"Hesitation in passing and faulty general offensive work will have to be eliminated," he said. "As yet the men do not take complete advantage of all their chances and in the games to come, it will be important that opportunities be thrown away as little as possible."

Coach Lawrence, though fully appreciative of the strength of the conference schools this year, is no less confident of what the Bearcats can do. In commenting upon the conference teams he added, "and no one has been left in doubt as to what a whirlwind of a team Springfield has developed, while the Southeast Teachers may be counted on to do what they always have—throw a monkey wrench into some school's smooth-running machine. If we come to a standstill, it will be just too bad for us. If we keep on improving—bring them on."

Warrensburg Here This Week.

Warrensburg will invade Maryville Friday and Saturday nights of this week to open the conference season for the Bearcats. Warrensburg has won two conference games, defeating Cape Girardeau 37 to 31 and 34 to 29. Garrison, Mule forward, is the Central Teachers scoring ace and will need close watching.

Maryville won from Tarkio without difficulty and beat Peru in a heetic contest Monday evening.

Friday and Saturday nights should see maximum crowds in the College gymnasium. The College student body is displaying lots of pep and supporting the team. L. M. Eck of the faculty, in an assembly talk Wednesday, averred that if pep was at such a low ebb during the football season because of a slow team, the pep now should be at a high ebb because the Bearcat five is a fast team. He urged the students at least to keep pace with them. All students will be required to sit on the west side of the gym. The rest of the seats will be reserved for other spectators.

CONCEPTION IS DEFEATED BY CLOSE SCORE

Free Throws the Margin by Which Catholic Squad Loses to Clarinda Junior College.

After driving on slippery roads through a heavy mist to Clarinda, Ia., last night, the Conception College basketball team lost to the Clarinda Junior College by a margain of 4 points on free throws.

The score was 32 to 28.

It was a close game all the way through, with neither team ever having margin sufficient to assure a victory. Both teams made the same number of field goals, twelve, but Clarinda counted eight points from the free throw line on fourteen fouls called on Conception players, while the Nodaway county college team made only four free throws on ten fouls committed by Clarinda.

Reising, Conception forward, was high-point man of the game, making six field goals and one free throw. Owen, Junior College forward, made one point less.

Pickering Wins Over Hopkins by 3 Points

Takes 18 to 15 Victory at Hopkins Last Night in Last Three Minutes of Play.

Pickering, longstanding basketball rival of Hopkins, retained court supremacy last night at Hopkins in a close and rather indecisive game, winning in the last three minutes of play by three points, 18 to 15.

Hopkins tallied the only count in the first quarter from the free toss line due to airtight defenses. The score was knotted at the half, 7-all, and Pickering led at the third quarter, 10 to 8. With this advantage Pickering stalled, but Hopkins forced on the fight and Bridgewater, Hopkins guard, evened the count. McGinness, Pickering, caged a field goal to again set his team in the lead only to be tied again by Hopkins. It began to look as if a play-off would be necessary, when a double foul was called on Flowers and McGinness. McGinness counted and the Hopkins man didn't. With forty seconds to play Hopkins was desperately trying to break the lead and change recent tradition but the final toll recorded the Nodaway County champions still at the long end of the score.

The game, though exciting was somewhat sloppy. It appeared that the Hopkins' hesitancy in shooting cost several rightful tallies.

Pickering will play Sheridan Friday night on the Parnell court.

Army-Navy Football Controversy Resumed

West Point Academy Replies to Suggestions That Way Still Is Open for a Game.

New York, Jan. 19.—The Army-Navy controversy over responsibility for the breach which led to cancellation of the annual service academy football game was resumed today with a statement from West Point.

Replying to the suggestion from Annapolis that the way still was open for a game, if the army would accept the navy's eligibility requirements, Major Philip B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at the military academy, pointed out that Annapolis authorities signed a four-year contract for Army-Navy games before insisting upon the three-year rule for athletes.

The only break came when the navy tried afterwards to impose the three-year rule, to which the army could not agree, Fleming said.
